Mrs. Hahn is also suspected of complicity in the death of nine others who died under peculiar circumstances.

MAN BURNED IN KENTON PLANT

Worker Comes in Contact With 22,000-Volt Electric Current.

PAINTING TRANSFORMER

Hospital Reports Condition "Fair"; Accident Shuts Off City's Current.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 20—James Dible, 26, a lineman for the Ohio Power Co., was burned from the waist to the shoulders this morning when he came into contact with a 22,000-volt electric current in a sub-station of the company's power plant.

He was taken to McKitrick hospital, where attaches said he is in fair condition. The burns, although they cover a large portion of his body, were not deep, attaches said.

Dible was burned while painting a transformer switch with a spray gun. The transformer on which he was working had been turned off but the one which his body touched was carrying the 22,000 voltage.

He was enveloped in blue flames and fell to the floor. His contact with the switch sounded a warning bell in the nearby power plant and fellow-workers rushed to his aid. First-aid was given him until an ambulance arrived to rush him to the hospital.

Electric power in Kenton was off for 11 minutes, until a new fuse could be installed and service resumed.

Dible has been employed as a lineman here for about a year, since coming here from McCutchenville. He is unmarried.

Judging of the entries will begin immediately after the close of the contest and winners of prize money in the 22 "theme" contests will be announced Tuesday, Aug. 31.

C. C. Weaver of Nevada today found that the middle of the intersection of routes 98 and 30 east of the city was an expensive place to take a nap. He was fined $25 and costs in municipal court this morning on a charge of intoxication and obstructing traffic placed against him by an officer of the highway patrol sub-station.

BLOND'S LAWYERS WANT PARTICULARS

Argue Motion in Court While Experts Examine 12th Body Linked to Poison Case.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 20—While experts made a post mortem examination of the body of Mrs. Ollie Luella Koehler, 79, attorneys for Mrs. Anna Hahn, 51-year-old German-born blond, went to court today to argue a motion for a bill of particulars on indictments charging her with slaying two elderly men.

The defense also sought court appointment of an expert to analyze substances taken from the body of George Gsellman, 67, and asked evidence which, Attorney Joseph Hodlin said, police took from the homes of Gsellman and Mrs. Hahn.

The comely blond is charged with poisoning Gsellman and Jacob Wagner, 78, in what Prosecutor Dudley M. Outcalt termed one of the "biggest mass murders in this country."

The examination of Mrs. Koehler's body was ordered by Assistant Prosecutor Loyal Martin after her sister, Mrs. Mary Arnold, 85, told authorities Mrs. Koehler became ill "just after eating ice cream given her by Mrs. Hahn. I believe my sister was poisoned by Mrs. Hahn." She died yesterday in a hospital where she had been ill several weeks.

The death of the woman brought to 12 the deaths during the last eight years which are under police scrutiny.

BLACK TAKES OATH AS COURT JUSTICE

Senate Clerk Conducts Ceremony After Alabama Senator Resigns.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Hugo L. Black's office disclosed today he had taken an oath of office as associate supreme court justice before Charles F. Pace, financial clerk of the senate.

Without ceremony, Pace administered the simple constitutional oath in the Capitol last night after Black tendered formal resignation from the senate.

It was the same declaration required of all federal officers. It entitles Black to the $20,000 annual pay of a justice.

But the new justice will not exercise the authority of his office until he takes the judicial oath from Charles Elmore Cropley, clerk of the high court. This probably will not be administered until the October term of the court.

WYANDOT CO. HEALTH OFFICER FATALLY HURT

Dr. A. E. Bixler, County Sanitarian, Dies in Bucyrus Hospital After Accident.

AUTO CRASH NEAR KIRBY

Harold Swinehart, Mifflin Township Farmer, in Kenton Hospital.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., Aug. 20—Dr. Albert E. Bixler, 45, veterinarian here and Wyandot county sanitarian, is dead, and Harold Swinehart, 25, Mifflin township farmer, is in a Kenton hospital seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident near Kirby last night.

Dr. Bixler died in the Bucyrus City hospital at 3:20 o'clock this morning. Mr. Swinehart's condition today was reported to be fair. Cars driven by the two men collided at an intersection a half mile south of Kirby, west of here.

On Business Trip

Bixler was en route west on a business trip to Kenton as Swinehart en route to Kirby attempted to cross the intersection at the same time, not seeing the local car in time to avoid an accident. The cars met at the north side of the intersection, the Swinehart auto crashing into the ditch west of the scene of the accident, while the local car hit the ditch at the northwest edge, crashing into a telephone pole which was broken off four feet from the top.

Bixler received medical attention at the office of a local physician and was later rushed to Bucyrus City hospital. He had suffered several fractured ribs, possible internal injuries and a cut on his lip.

Swinehart received medical attention at the scene of the accident by Dr. E. E. Burns of Kirby, and was then taken to McKitrick hospital in Kenton. He had suffered a badly lacerated nose, scalp wounds and broken left arm below the elbow. Both cars were practically destroyed.

World War Veteran

Dr. Bixler is survived by his widow, Mrs. Edith Hall Bixler, to whom he was married in 1920, three children, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bixler of Pandora, and a brother, Milton, also of Pandora. He was a veteran of the World war, a member of the American Legion and active in Boy Scout work here. A graduate of Ohio State university, Dr. Bixler practiced in Rawson before coming here in 1929. He was a member of the Methodist church here.

Dr. F. L. Shively, head of the nominating committee of the Dayton school board, announced the names of the four men to be interviewed. In addition to Supt. Hudson and Supt. Mason, they are Ralph Jacobs of Cincinnati and George Roudebush of Youngstown.

Supt. Hudson, when informed of the report this morning, said it came to him as a surprise and said he naturally would be interested in what the Dayton board might offer "if they are interested in me."

Mr. Hudson has been superintendent here since 1934 and last spring was given a two-year contract by the Marion city board of education.

SWEEPSTAKES HEARING SET

Case of Palace Theater Manager To Come Up in Municipal Court Sept. 1.

NOT GUILTY PLEAS MADE

Entered for Manager and Three Employes by Attorney Strolitz.

Four persons arrested in a police raid on the sweepstakes game at the Palace theater Wednesday night pleaded not guilty in municipal court this morning.

The case of George Planck, theater manager, was set for hearing on Sept. 1 at 9 a. m. He is charged with operating a game of chance known as the sweepstakes.

Cases of three employes of the theater may be tried simultaneously with Mr. Planck's. They are Misses Ione Pearl Srieves, Helen Donna Groves and Mary Alice Watts, all charged with selling tickets used in the game.

The pleas for all four were entered by J. Malcolm Strolitz, attorney for the group. Mr. Planck was the only one of the group present.

Mr. Planck said he is uncertain as to whether an effort will be made to conduct the sweepstakes again next Wednesday night in answer to a question by City Solicitor R. E. Carhart.

At the request of Mr. Strolitz, and with agreement of the city solicitor, $30 in change which was in the theater cashier's till when the theater was opened for business Wednesday was returned to Mr. Planck. Receipts for the day, however, were retained by police. A preview of a feature to be shown at the theater soon, taken by police during the raid, was returned after it had been projected on the Palace screen to show it had no part in the operation of the sweepstakes game.

Bonds for Mr. Planck and the employes facing charges were continued.

Manila Quakes Scare Refugees From Shanghai

Two Sharp Temblors Throw Town Into Darkness as Americans Land.

By The Associated Press

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 20—Two sharp earthquakes threw Manila into darkness tonight in a terrifying welcome to American refugees arriving from war-torn Shanghai.

Manila residents fled from their homes and hotels into the darkened streets, where light wires lay in a tangled mess. Many fires started by the shocks, the worst in 40 years, added to the panic.

Several large buildings and a number of churches were damaged. Many injuries but no deaths were reported during the confusion following the first shock about 8 p. m. the second tremor added new terror 20 minutes later. The shocks were felt at least 200 miles away.

Most terrified by the rumbling and shaking of the earth were the 376 refugees arriving aboard the President Jefferson to a supposed haven after their horrible experiences in Shanghai.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and her son, Quintin, had hurried ashore under the escort of President Manuel Quezon's personal bodyguard and were whisked away in an automobile.

Composure of the refugees was largely restored when the electric lights were turned on again. The main power line had blown out.

Seismologists said the quake was centered three and a half miles from Manila.

The quake was one of the heaviest felt in Manila in many years.

LAW TO CLIP J. P.'S POWER TAKES EFFECT

Constables Barred from Arresting Motorists Outside Their Township.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Powers of justices of the peace to have motorists brought before them from any place within a county to answer to traffic charges were revoked today by a new law which became effective on expiration of the referendum period.

Hereafter justices will be limited to their own townships in the trial of traffic cases unless a complaint is filed by the sheriff or prosecuting attorney of the county.

No longer will it be possible for a justice of the peace to send his constables outside of their township to arrest motorists for traffic violations. He still may hear traffic cases arising within his own township, however.

The justices retain county-wide jurisdiction in 17 specific instances of law violation and received an 18th by the new law, that of enforcing the conservation laws.

Two other laws effective today establish a uniform code between states relative to the extradition of persons charged with crime, and prescribing method whereby paroled prisoners may take residence in other states having similar laws. It also gives officers of states joining such compacts the right to cross into affected states for arrest and return of parole violators without formality of extradition proceedings.

A total of $[illegible] was paid in up to closing time yesterday, Mr. Cole said. The office staff at the courthouse, in the absence of the treasurer, spent [illegible] checking receipts and preparing for the rush today.

Vessel Covering Removal of Americans When Projectile Strikes; Marion Woman's Husband Aboard.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI—One United States sailor was killed and 18 were wounded when an anti-aircraft shell struck the cruiser Augusta. Husband of a Marion woman was aboard ship. One-fourth of Shanghai in flames as Chinese planes and artillery struck at Japanese properties and defense lines. Warships aided evacuation of 1,000 Americans through a curtain of shrapnel.

TOKYO—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye barred foreign intervention in Sino-Japanese warfare, declaring a settlement must wait until Japan has "chastised" the Chinese army.

PEIPING—Chinese armies, 100,000 to 150,000 strong, reportedly launched a general offensive to drive conquering Japanese out of north China.

MANILA—An earthquake swayed Manila buildings and put out lights just after the landing of 375 men, women and children refugees from Shanghai. The quake was one of the heaviest in 40 years.

NANKING—Shrapnel fell near the U. S. embassy when 14 Japanese planes raided Nanking. No Americans were hurt. Chinese said their planes sank a Japanese "warship" off the Chekiang province coast.

* * * *

The husband of a former Marion woman is a member of the crew of the Augusta, flagship of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, which was hit by a shell at Shanghai today. He is Stephen B. Haines, 38, chief staff supervisor of all radio operations of the battleship, and husband of the former Miss Margaret J. Cowan, Mrs. Haines is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cowan of DeWolfe court. Mr. Haines has been on the Augusta since last March, shortly after he was assigned to two years' duty with the Asiatic fleet.

Whether he was among the list of injured was not known here since news reports did not carry a list of those hurt by the exploding shell.

Family Near Shanghai

Mrs. Haines and two children also are near the war zone, her parents said today. A letter received from her a week ago, but mailed six weeks ago, said they were at Tsing-Tau, about 200 miles from Shanghai. The Haines children are Margaret Patrick, 3, and Nancy J., five months. Nancy was born last March in the Philippines where Mrs. Haines went last winter after her husband was assigned to the Asiatic fleet. Mrs. Haines and her oldest daughter were here at the Cowan home for three months last summer and fall. From here they went to San Diego, Calif., and then to the Philippines to be near Mr. Haines.

Married in New York

The Haines were married in New York five years ago. Mr. Haines and his wife visited at the Cowan home three years ago. His home is in San Antonio, Tex. He has served 17 years in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowan were watching developments in China closely through radio news broadcasts and newspaper reports today. If their daughter is still in Tsing-Tau, Mr. Cowan said, her position is rather precarious since the city is readily accessible to the Japanese fleet and the fighting is likely to shift there soon. Another factor that adds to the seriousness of her position is that there is no international settlement there to give protection to foreigners.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Aug. 20—One United States sailor was killed and 18 wounded tonight when an anti-aircraft shell of undetermined origin struck the after well deck of the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet.

The Augusta, flagship of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, fleet commander, has been lying in the Whangpoo river a little downstream from the heart of the international settlement, covering the evacuation of American refugees from stricken Shanghai.

The shell plunged from a high angle. Both Japanese and Chinese artillery and anti-aircraft batteries had been firing furiously through the late afternoon and into the night.

Dead Sailor from Louisiana

The sailor killed was Freddie John Falgout of Raceland, La.

None of the 18 wounded was seriously hurt.

The shell struck the Augusta at 5:40 p. m. when Japanese and Chinese guns were roaring on both banks of the Whangpoo and from warships on the river.

Shortly after the Augusta was hit another shell fell less than 100 yards astern of her on the Pootung side of the river.

Shortly after 10 p. m. (9 a. m. Marion time) Japanese warships on the Whangpoo and Chinese batteries to the south of the international settlement began a duel with big caliber guns. Under the detonations Shanghai rocked as if in an earthquake.

The Augusta stood by earlier today as two United States destroyers and Dollar liners carried 1,000 American refugees down the river to board the liner President Hoover for Manila.

Japanese Request Ignored

Admiral Yarnell had told the Japanese navy plainly that United States vessels would navigate the Whangpoo whenever and however he desired without reference to anyone. This was in reply to a Japanese request that American naval authorities give the Japanese advance notice whenever they wished to navigate the Whangpoo after dark.

The Chinese government at Nanking said Chinese planes bombed and sank a Japanese "warship" off the coast of Chekiang province, south of Shanghai.

The ship was not identified.

Three Japanese aviators who escaped death when their planes were shot down over Chekiang were brought to Nanking to join four other captured Japanese fliers.

A fourth of Shanghai was ablaze as Chinese airforces struck savagely at Japanese properties along the Whangpoo river and Chinese artillery blasted at Japanese defined lines.

American property suffered heavily as the battle for Shanghai, in its second week, became increasingly destructive of life and property.

The whole Pootung waterfront, teeming industrial area just across the river from the heart of Shanghai, was in flames as the result of heavy bombing of Japanese properties by Chinese planes.

Wheat Shows Advance

A large portion of the Hongkew district, to the north was ravaged by flames. This section, held largely by Japanese, was the American residence for a few years in the 19th century. Nearly 1 million Chinese are known to live on the city's perimeter of the Japanese and were largely responsible for the Hongkew blaze.

As the battle progressed from air and land bombardments to the streets, Japanese marines and Chinese civilians engaged along the boundary between the French concession and the Chinese city. Bullets whined in the international area.

The artillery duel between Japanese warships on the river and Chinese shore batteries was the fiercest of the eight-day-old battle for Shanghai.

NEUTRALITY ACT AND THE FAR EAST WAR

in the Philippines training a large Philippine army, which by United States statute will become part of our armed forces if we are involved in a war during the probationary period of ten years. That means that on the one hand we retire from the islands, while, on the other, we militarize them for protection against an invader. It would be logical either to keep the islands or let them go. We do neither.

Growth of Armed Power

The commercial figures would apparently indicate that we have no reason for caring what happens to China, but this is not true. First of all, it is not in our interests, as a peace-loving nation whose ultimate economic welfare depends upon the maintenance of peace, to accept with equanimity the appalling growth of military aggression all over the world, and the wholesale violation of treaties and disregard of international law. If there is to be no law left, as between nations, nothing is safe—neither commerce, nor investments, nor any territory, nor any peoples.

We are signatories — together with Japan—to a nine-power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China. The violation of that treaty in 1931, when Japan seized Manchukuo, was the preface to the violation of Ethiopia, of the Locarno treaty, and the wholesale foreign intervention in Spain. It is not logical to suppose that the new type of undeclared warfare can go on indefinitely without, at some point, involving nations and interests nearer home. Every successful step that Japan takes in China is an encouragement to other nations to pursue the same policies somewhere else. And if half the world is given over to the pursuit of such policies, it will be futile for us to go on pretending that any transactions can be carried out without at least the show of force.

Actually, the Sino-Japanese war shows up the glaring inconsistencies of our whole foreign policy. We are trying to be in the world, but not of it. We are a great power, but we desire neither to draw the consequences nor accept the responsibilities of our position. And neither do we wish to cease being a great power. Public opinion is isolationist—without being able really to see what isolation would mean for this country. Therefore we drift, and those who drift land oftener on rocks than on Elysian islands.

MORE FARMS GET POWER

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 20—Sixteen more farm homes were connected with the lines of the Union rural electric cooperative on Thursday afternoon and linemen are busily engaged in connecting up transformers on the section of line from the Earl Blake farm to substation No. 2, a mile north of Lunda.

MINISTERS PROTEST

Editor of The Star: Several months before the police raid on the Palace theater was staged, the Marion County Ministerial association sent a protest against "bank night" to the manager of the theater.

This resolution was discussed at two different meetings and was passed unanimously. On April 7, 1937, the resolution was mailed to the manager.

The resolution follows: "Resolved, That it is the concensus of opinion of the Marion County Ministerial association that the giving away of certain sums of money for 'sweepstakes' on 'bank nights' to buyers of movie tickets who draw the 'lucky number'—that such practice may be legally within the laws of the state of Ohio, but such practice should be condemned as promoting the gambling spirit of movie goers, and is therefore detrimental to the public morals of this community at large."

The passage of this resolution

DOES YOUR CHILD RIDE IN A SCHOOL BUS

Then you, too, are concerned in the new school bus liability and accident insurance that is replacing the old form of driver's liability.

Under the old form the liability insurance would pay for your child's injuries, only in the event of driver liability (fault of the driver).

Under the new liability and accident protection, your child is sure of hospital bills, etc., being paid whether or not the accident was the fault of the bus driver or some irresponsible, careless automobile operator.

The boards of education in some of the townships are waiting for an expression from the children's parents before deciding upon this new protection.

Your opinion will be valued by your school board members on this very important matter.

EIGHT-RUN SCORING BARRAGE IN FOURTH FRAME DECIDES GAME

Red Sox Lead Over Second Place Geyganites Cut to Five Games.

Marion's baseball team had little respect for the position or prestige of the Mansfield Red Sox yesterday afternoon when the Geyganites invaded the home lot of the league leaders and handed them a 12 to 6 walloping.

Upsetting Manager Dewey Stover's applecart with an eight-run barrage in the fourth inning, the Marion club continued to chase in tallies until the victory was decisive. Gordon "Slim" Mann, age righthander of the Geygan crew, went the full route on the mound and gained his thirteenth victory against two defeats.

Mansfield's humiliation at the hands of Marion cut a full game from the lead of the first place club, bringing it down to an even five games. Today Manager Geygan will lead his second-place charges in an invasion of the Findlay park for a doubleheader, with the first game starting at 2:30 o'clock.

In the only other contest played yesterday Findlay won over Fremont 5 to 2.

Stlewe Scores First

Marion yesterday jumped to an early lead over the Red Sox when Buster Stlewe opened the initial inning with a single. He went to second on Eader's infield out and after Stan Platek drew a pass, Ted Swed cracked a liner to right that sent Stlewe across the plate and Platek to third. An error by Bleckshenk at shortstop permitted Platek to score and Kauffman to take first.

Chappie Geygan went down on a walk to load the bases but the inning wound up in rapid fashion with Mike Harris hitting into a double play. The Sox were at bat in the last of the frame just long enough to knot the score at 2-2. With two out Patras singled and Manager Stover followed up with a home run over Eader in leftfield.

Neither team managed to touch home plate in the next two innings, but in the fourth Marion turned on full steam. Catcher Bill Mulvihill started the ball rolling with a sharp single to center. Mann and Stlewe both bunted and each was safe on attempted force plays. Harvey Eader's infield hit scored Mulvihill and Platek cracked one down to short, but Blershenks throw to nowhere was fate, permitting Mann to tally and still keep the bases clogged.

Sox Change Pitchers

In desperation Pilot Stover signaled for a change of pitchers, hoping to halt the slaughter. Heath was hurried to the mound and he walked Swed on four consecutive pitches, forcing Stlewe across the plate. Kauffman was automatically out when the ball hit the ground near the plate and struck him. Geygan shot a double down the right field line, bringing in Eader.

Mike Harris, after working the count to three and two, tripled to deep right center, scored Swed and Geygan, Harris tallying a moment later on Mulvihill's long fly to left. Mann finished the inning by striking out.

Mansfield added two runs to its total in the fourth on a walk, single and long triple and registered again in the seventh when Leo tripled and came home on an infield out. The Sox final run came in the last of the eighth on a double and pair of singles.

Meanwhile the Marion big bats were continuing to crash out the bombardment of base hits. In the seventh Marion picked up a run without relying on a safety when two Sox errors and a stolen base were responsible for a lone marker. In the ninth the Geygonites ran their total to an even dozen, as Harvey Eader tripled and scored on Platek's long fly to left field.

At Findlay yesterday, a home run by Webber in the sixth with one on and another four-base knock by Critch in the seventh enabled the Browns to turn back the visiting Fremont Reds, 5 to 2. The victory widened Findlay's fourth-place margin in the circuit to four and one-half games over Fremont.

BOMBER IN TRAINING

DEM TIGERS IS A FIGHTIN' TEAM...
ROUGHEST AS EVER, JOE IS MORE INTERESTED IN BASE-BALL NOW THAN IN THE FIGHT--
PREPARING FOR HIS FIRST TITLE DEFENSE--
The CHAMPION!
--THE TITLE HASN'T CHANGED LOUIS--HE'S THE SAME SPHINX!
DOES LEGS HAD BETTER BE IN GOOD SHAPE--FARR, MAY 25th, JAB AND GRAB.
--WHEN AY WIN THE TITLE--

WINNING the title apparently hasn't changed Joe Louis in the least. As he goes through the old training routine at Pompton Lakes, his favorite camp Joe outwardly seems to be as sphinx-like and imperturbable as ever.

Jolting Joseph shows little or no interest in his opponent as he prepares for his first title defense some two months after winning the crown.

About the only thing that really seems to arouse Joe is baseball. The Bomber is an avid diamond rooter, and he follows the fortunes of his beloved Detroit Tigers with all the fervor of the real baseball bug.

Joe's handlers are determined that the champion will be in good shape for Farr, who may turn out to be one of those trouble-making guys who run, jab and grab. The Welshman will certainly be in there to stay the limit and, if possible, peck out a point verdict.

With this in mind, Louis is being conditioned for speed. He must be fast enough to catch an elusive foe, or he will certainly lose prestige and possibly his title in the bargain.

RED BIRDS DEFEAT MINNEAPOLIS; TRAIL LEADERS BY 1 GAME

Columbus Team To Renew Bid for Pennant Against St. Paul Today.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—The Columbus Red Birds, only a single game behind the current leading Minneapolis Millers, hoped to use the lowly St. Paul Saints as a stepping stone today in their climb toward the American Association pennant.

The Red Birds had a slight advantage over Minneapolis, which faced the strong Toledo Mud Hens, occupants of third place, in Ben park.

Enos Slaughter, leading association batsman, got his 23rd homer of the season at the right moment for Columbus last night, the circuit smash giving the Red Birds a 5 to 4 win over the Millers. Johny Rizzo and Dick Siebert came through with timely hits for the Flock cause.

Toledo defeated St. Paul 5 to 0 behind the four-hit flinging of Emmett Nelson, who bested Bob Coombs in a hurling duel until the sixth, when a five-hit offense netted four runs.

Kansas City swept a twilight double bill from Indianapolis, taking the first game 9 to 5 and the second 8 to 2.

Milwaukee defeated Louisville 9 to 6 in 10 innings in the first game of a night doubleheader, the Brewers getting 17 hits off three Colonel hurlers. In the second game the Brewers downed the Colonels, 4 to 1, in seven innings.

el Takes Industrial Loop Lead from Campers

s Browns; Reds to Cardinals

The victory really meant two games to the Cubs. Had they lost and the Giants won, their league lead would have been shaved to a single game. But the Giants dropped an 11-inning, 3-1 heartbreaker to the pitching mastery of Jim Turner and the Boston Bees and gave the Cubs another breathing spell.

The Yankees got the breaks to maintain an 11½ game edge in the American League with a 12-inning 4-3 decision over the Senators. The second-place Detroit Tigers, featuring a pair of homers each by Rudy York and Gerry Walker, walloped the White Sox, 12-4, in a game cut to six innings by rain. The second game of a scheduled doubleheader was rained out.

Getting effective pitching from Lon Warneke and Mike Ryba, the Cardinals clouted the Reds, 6-2 and 5-1, for a twin win. The Phillies and Dodgers split, Brooklyn winning the opener, 3-0, and dropping the nightcap, 7-5.

Eric McNair's pinch-homer gave the Red Sox a 5-4 edge over the Athletics. The Indians ran away from the Browns, 9-1.

TWO TRYING OUT FOR "JUMPING JOE'S" JOB

Schmidt Seeking Crack Ball Carrier To Use in Scoring Pinches.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Nick Wasylick of Astoria, L. I., and Bill Booth of East Liverpool saw ahead of them today a battle to fill the shoes of "Jumping Joe" Williams, Ohio State university left halfback whose scholastic difficulties removed him from the Buck lineup for the coming season.

Coach Francis Schmidt, getting ready for opening practice Sept. 10, disclosed he had shifted Wasylick from quarterback to half in a search for a man who can reel off touchdowns when the ball is placed well down in enemy territory.

Booth, a junior this year, weighed 192 last year and demonstrated his ability at open field running and line bucking.

Schmid also disclosed that he intended to use Charles Ream, 230-pound Navarre former left tackle, at left end this year. Ream, expected to make a bid for all-conference honors, may be sent back to tackle after Schmidt grooms another man for the flank spot.

Dick Soughner of Akron and Esco Sarkkinen of Fairport are expected to be leading candidates for left end if Ream is shifted again.

Marion Steam Shovel's Industrial league softball team last night stepped into first place in the city circuit by defeating the previous loop leaders, Keytown Camp, 3 to 1, at Lincoln park stadium. Both teams along with the Huber Co. entry still remain in the running for the league title. Although last night marked the fourteenth and final round of competition for the current season, the championship will rest on the outcome of games which previously ended in deadlock or were postponed.

The Keytown Campers, dropped to second place by the defeat last night, will be in action in their final game of the season tonight at Lincoln park in a stadium benefit contest against the Huber Co. club. Hubers' team edged the Defiance Pressed Steel outfit, 1 to 0, on the M. S. S. diamond last night, to continue in the running for the title. Other games found Excavator handing the Omar Baking club its fourteenth straight defeat, 6 to 4, and Fairfield winning over Osgood, 10 to 3.

The Shovel aggregation today holds a record of 10 victories in 11 starts, while the Keytown Campers are but one notch behind in the stands with 11 victories against two defeats. A margin of one game separates the two top teams and Keytown has one tie game to be played, while the Diggers have one tied contest and two postponed conflicts remaining on their schedule.

Should the Campers defeat Huber tonight at Lincoln park it would mean that the Shovel club would need to win all of its three remaining games to gain an undisputed league title. If the Campers taste defeat tonight, the M. S. S. team could drop one of its three games and still gain the pennant without the necessity of having a play-off.

Scores of last night's games follow:

GREENBERG, GEHRIG AND DICKEY STARS OF MONTH IN MAJORS

Get Most Honorable Mentions In Daily Compilation of "Yesterday's Stars."

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Three of the American league's biggest guns, Hank Greenberg of the Tigers and Lou Gehrig and Bill Dickey of the Yankees, deadlocked for honors as the stars of big league baseball's month of play ended today.

Each was mentioned five times during the 30-day span in The Associated Press' list of "yesterday's Stars," compiled daily to include those players who played the biggest part in their team's victories.

Greenberg's five for the month boosted him into a tie with Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees and Ducky Medwick of the Cardinals for the season's honors. Each has been credited with 13 "mentions" on the star list so far during the campaign.

Medwick drew four nominations during the month, and DiMaggio had three. Deadlocked with Medwick at four each for second place in the 30-day period were Claude Passeau, Phillies pitcher; Tony Cuccinello, the Boston Bees' batting infielder, and Frank Demaree of the Cubs.

Van Mungo, a hospital case during the month, failed to receive a mention, but remained deadlocked for second place season honors with Carl Hubbell, Giants; Lou Fette, Bees, and Lefty Gomez, Yankees, each with ten for the year.

British Journalists Shelve Patriotism, Pick Louis To Win

BY SCOTTY RESTON

LONDON, Aug. 20—There's a suspicion in Britain that maybe it's just as well that the future of the empire doesn't depend on Tommy Farr.

Which is to say that, if Joe Louis mangles him Aug. 26, the commonwealth will be braced for the shock.

If it isn't braced, it won't be the fault of the British sports writers. They have spent much time and many shillings looking at the pictures of the Louis-Jim Braddock fight, and, though generally inclined to let their patriotism get in the way of their judgment in decisions of this kind, they are picking Louis.

"Nice fellow, Tommy, courageous and all that sort of thing, but he really can't attack, can he?" they said. The critics don't believe their boy is good enough to stay 15 rounds with Louis without getting hit too many times.

There also is a tendency here to regret Tommy's recent eloquence. It's all very well for Farr to make a hit in America, but what Britain wants to know is, "Is it dignified?"

Tommy's been quoted as saying he wants to win so he can have a family and his opinions on the old school tie have been printed. Ordinarily, one just doesn't have public opinions on having a family or on the old school tie.

One of the more prominent contributors to the London papers and also one of the few who favor Farr is Ted Broadribb, Farr's manager. Broadribb is enthusiastic about Farr's chances and he's positively un-British in his enthusiasm for America. In one of his recent epics he pumped himself into a great flight of eloquence and concluded on this immortal note:

"Long live Long Branch, New Jersey! Long live Mike Jacobs!"

Special boats are carrying many British fans to New York for the bout and even London's restaurants are carrying cabled stories of Tommy's training activities on the backs of their menus.

Decorators At Work on Marion Bowling Center

Preparations are under way for the fall opening of Marion's bowling season, which has been set for the week after Labor Day. Workmen have been busy for the past week completely redecorating the Marion Recreation Center at 133 South Prospect street.

The interior of the building which houses the six alleys has been repainted. A new kick-back, into which the pins spill when the lucky bowler makes a strike, has been installed. The pin machines which place the pins on the spots have been returned here after having been rebuilt at the factory and new bed spots, on which the pins are centered, have also been installed.

During the renovation period, enthusiasts will not be able to use the alleys, but the Recreation Center is expected to be prepared for opening within a week or 10 days to give pin-toppers an opportunity for practice before the start of the league season. Representatives of the Brunswick-Balke-Collander Co. from Cleveland are expected to come here next week to resurface the alleys and any bowlers who wish are invited to watch the men at work, Manager Arthur Winterstetter said.

HOW CAN I EVER REPAY YOU FOR WHAT YOU DID FOR ME?
FORGET IT
FATHER AND I BOTH OWE YOU A LOT
FATHER WANTS TO TALK TO YOU — HE'S IN BED AND RESTING NICELY
— I HAD NO IDEA THAT HE WAS A CROOK WHEN I HIRED HIM AS A BUTLER — LATER HE MADE HIMSELF UP TO LOOK LIKE ME
THEN HE LOCKED ME IN THAT BASEMENT ROOM AND FORCED ME TO SIGN LARGE CHECKS
I WONDER WHAT HAPPENED TO MY SON?
I'LL GET CASTOR OYL, THE DETECTIVE, TO FIND OUT ABOUT HIM
WAIT — DON'T GO YET I WANT TO REWARD YOU WITH A MILLION-DOLLAR CHECK

Tillie the Toiler

OF COURSE, I WON'T GO WITH YOU, RANDY — YOU'RE MARRIED TO LOLITA NOW
BUT LOLITA DOESN'T MEAN A THING TO ME — I WAS IN A SPOT
WELL, I'M IN A SPOT, TOO
IF I HADN'T MARRIED LOLITA, THEY WOULD HAVE SENT HER BACK TO FRANCE AND WRECKED MY SHOW, AND THE SHOW MUST GO ON!
WELL, THE SHOW'S OVER AS FAIR AS I'M CONC
YOO-HOO, MAC — WAIT FOR ME

Toots and Casper

MY FATHER'S DREAM IS TO UNITE TWO GREAT FORTUNES THROUGH THE MARRIAGE OF DOROTHY KAYLE AND MYSELF! I OWE EVERYTHING TO HIM AND MUST CONSIDER HIS WISHES —
DOROTHY'S A SWELL GIRL, BUT SO IS CLARICE — AND ONE THING IN CLARICE'S FAVOR IS SHE LIKED ME JUST AS MUCH BEFORE SHE EVER KNEW I HAD MONEY —
I CAN'T DELAY — I MUST CHOOSE BETWEEN THEM! YES, I'VE DECIDED — I'VE MADE MY CHOICE AND IT'S FINAL!
JIMMY MURPHY
I'LL GO OVER NOW AND BREAK THE NEWS TO HER AS GENTLY AS I CAN — I DREAD TO TELL HER I CAN'T SEE HER AGAIN, BUT I'VE NO ALTERNATIVE

STOCKS RECEDE AFTER UPTURN

U. S. Steel and Few Others Able To Retain Gains While Rest Slip.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Lower prices generally followed an anaemic early rally in today's stock market.

While U. S. Steel and a few others managed to retain portions of their initial advance, declines running to around two points were widely distributed near the fourth hour.

The financial temperament was chilled by another drop in U. S. government bonds and the listless performance of corporation loans. Commodities were uneven.

Inclined to give ground were shares of Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Chrysler, Motor Products, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Western Union, American Metal, Allis Chalmers, American Locomotive, Westinghouse, Phillips Petroleum, Texas Corp., Standard Oil of New Jersey, Servel, Bethlehem, Republic, Wheeling Steel, American Steel Foundries and Eastman Kodak.

Pointing upward for awhile were Macy, Deere, Oliver Farm, National Lead, Reynolds Metals, Public Service of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, National Biscuit and Loew's.

A more than season increase in last week's freight loadings failed to steam up the rails, although several did relatively well.

Trading gloom was neutralized somewhat before the opening by optimistic week-end business reviews.

Dun & Bradstreet found store inventories depleted at many points and buyers in wholesale divisions seemingly displayed less hesitancy in making purchases. In some sectors retail distribution was said to have been the best of the season.

That progress in the commercial field is continuing notwithstanding the recent erratic movement of shares was indicated by federal reserve figures disclosing loans to industry and agriculture by member banks registered their third consecutive upturn in the week ended Aug. 18.

SALES SPREE CLIPS GRAIN THREE CENTS

Both Wheat and Corn Recede Amid Liquidation of September Contracts.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 — Flurried selling that broke out late today swept wheat and corn values down more than three cents a bushel, September corn almost the immediate permissible limit.

Liquidating sales on the part of holders of September corn contracts unwilling or unable to accept possible large tenders of corn started the selling, which soon spread to the wheat market, and other commodities. Lard and oats fell to new low price records for the season.

At the close, corn was 1¼@3¼ cents under yesterday's finish, Sept. 64½@¾, Dec. 64½@¾, wheat 2 cents to 2¾ down, Sept. 1.06½@¾, Dec. 1.06½@¾.

Asked what this would mean as far as any counter action was concerned, the president said such things were almost bound to happen in a situation such as that at Shanghai.

Asked what he was going to do about it, he said the people on the spot could tell more about that than officials in Washington.

HOBBIES OF JOBLESS TURNED TO CAREERS

Beautician Becomes Photographer's Aid; Landscaper Gets Steady Job.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O.—H. J. Merz, manager of the Columbus office of the Ohio State Employment service, today recalled that the chance remark of a job-seeker a year ago started him into an unofficial role of "career doctor."

Scores of applicants have found work because of chance remarks about their hobbies, Merz said. He explained that he went thoroughly into the preferences and hobbies of the prospective applicant and many times gave him an idea which created a job.

Among examples of his successes:

An Akron beautician, unemployed, became a photographer's assistant because her hobby was designing and art work. A Columbus handyman, who found recreation in landscaping, is now in charge of several large properties—the first steady job in years. A printer deaf mute became a dish washer in a restaurant where no English was spoken—no handicap in his case.

Germans have designed a complete repair shop for machinery that folds to form a trailer that can be towed to jobs by an automobile.

VET RECALLS LINCOLN STORY

88-Year Old Indiana Man Was Friend of War President.

International News Service

BOONVILLE, Ind.—William J. Kelley, 88, Warrick county's fine Civil war veteran, recalls his friendship with Abraham Lincoln.

In 1832 the family of Thomas Lincoln prepared to leave Indiana for Illinois, where they planned to make their home, and where they had heard farm lands were rich. All of their belongings were placed on two carts drawn by horses, Mr. Kelley said. The women rode inside of the carts and the men drove and rode horseback.

The little group of travelers got as far as Mr. Kelley's father's, Isham farm in the northeastern part of this county, when night began to fall. Thomas Lincoln stopped at the home of Mr. Kelley and asked if they might be permitted to spend the night. Mr. Kelley told them that his family were just "plain folks" and if the Lincolns cared to stay they were welcome.

Just "Plain Folks"

Mr. Lincoln stated that they were just "plain folks and used only to the very common things of life." The Lincoln family, of course, had their own bedding which they used. They spent the night and early the next morning made preparations to continue their journey.

It was the intention of the family to go to Illinois by way of Petersburg. Mr. Lincoln informed them, and asked how to get to Petersburg from the Kelley home. Mr. Kelley told them he had been there on horseback by a shorter way but that wagons could not get through. He told them to go to Boonville and that when they got to Boonville, someone would direct them to Petersburg.

After heartily thanking the Kelleys for their hospitality, the Lincoln family left toward Boonville.

Early Experience Recalled

"Little was thought about the travelers who had stopped at our home, my father said, until Abraham Lincoln began to become a popular man. When he became a candidate for president, my father told us that this was the man who once stayed at our home over night," Mr. Kelley recalls.

William I. Kelley joined the army during the Civil war when he was 15 years of age. "I ran away. I looked older than I was so I got in the service," he said.

"One day in 1864 I was on guard duty at Sherman's headquarters when Lincoln came to camp to inspect and to discuss plans with General Sherman. He came up to me and said, 'You ought to be home with your mother, Buddy.' Mr. Kelley stated.

"I have no mother," Mr. Kelley replied.

Lincoln Expresses Sorrow

"At that Lincoln felt sorry for me, he told me he was sorry and asked where my home was. I told him I came from Indiana."

Lincoln immediately said, "I formerly lived in Indiana, what part do you come from?"

Mr. Kelley told him. Then Lincoln asked the name of his father and when Mr. Kelley told him, Lincoln told him that his family had spent the night at Kelley's father's home when they left Indiana, telling the same story which Kelley's father had told to him.

MANY ACTIVITIES AT PLAYGROUNDS

Wiener Roast and Special Program Held During Week.

A wiener roast and special program featured the week's activity of the city playground groups which are directed through the cooperation of the WPA, NYA and Y. M. C. A. Ninety youngsters attended the wiener roast which was supervised and planned by Charles Caprino. Special events for youngsters over 13 years were volley ball, tag ball, flying dutchman, pursuit race, grab and bacon and medicine ball relay, while children under 13 played squirrel in the tree, midnight, pincho, cicle dodge ball, and heads and tails.

Special stunts were presented by various groups of youngsters. Among the stunts were straight face, personality, yelling and cracker eating contest, hand wrestling, wheelbarrow race, tractor and rooster fight and keg tilting. Today at Lincoln park the youngsters were to take part in a field day program, while at McKinley Park a pet and doll show and parade was to be held. Games and tournaments featured activity at the Marion Steam Shovel playground.

KIWANIANS HOLD FAMILY PICNIC

More than 100 attended the Kiwanis club family picnic held at McKinley park last night. Softball, horseshoe pitching, contests and games were included on the program with special prizes awarded to participants. The program replaced the usual weekly luncheon meeting held each Thursday noon at Hotel Marion.

C. A. Klunk, Dr. A. J. Wagner, Dale Hughes, Clarence Snyder, C. Z. Zachman, J. J. Huebner and Roy Abel were in charge of arrangements. Following the picnic the party attended the Ohio theater at the invitation of J. J. Huebner, president of the club.

Bibb Graves, Alabama governor, has named his wife (above) to the United States senatorship left vacant by appointment of Hugo L. Black, former senator, to the United States supreme court. Mrs. Graves is reported to be an excellent speaker and an astute political observer.

ALABAMA WOMAN NEW U. S. SENATOR

Gov. Bibb Graves Names Wife To Succeed Black Who Goes to Supreme Court.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Mrs. Dixie Graves, wife of Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama, took her oath of office today as the successor in the senate of Sen. Black, recently appointed to the supreme court.

She was sworn on the senate floor as the fourth woman to hold a seat in that body.

She was escorted to the vice president's desk to take the oath by Sen. Bankhead, senior senator from Alabama.

Affable Mrs. Graves is going to let her governor-husband shift for himself while she sits in the senate.

"Always before," she said, "we have gone everywhere together—done everything together.

"When he became governor, I felt his job was more important. I did everything possible to help him, and limited the club activities which had been my principal interest outside my home."

Gov. Graves appointed his wife last night to the seat vacated by Hugo L. Black, who resigned to take his oath as a supreme court justice.

The 55-year-old Alabama woman will serve until a Democratic primary next Feb. 1 selects the party's candidate for the remainder of Black's term, which ends in January, 1939.

The nominee will take over the seat at once by appointment, Graves said, without waiting for a special election on April 26, because Democratic candidates in Alabama usually have little opposition.

The governor announced he chose his wife not only because she is "best-fitted" but because he did not want to give any candidate for the nomination an advantage. A hot fight for the senatorship is expected.

Mrs. Graves will be paid at the rate of $10,000 a year, almost twice as much as her husband's $6,000 salary. In addition, she will receive the franking privilege, travel allowances, and funds for office help.

She is the fourth woman ever chosen for the senate. The only feminine member this year has been Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas.

STATE AIMS TO SAVE SWAMP NEAR URBANA

Conservation Council Seeks To Lease Area and Hopes To Get Funds To Buy It.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Cedar swamp, Ohio's miniature wonderland of wild flowers and song birds located south of Urbana in Champaign county, will be preserved as a sanctuary if plans of the conservation council are completed.

An attempt is being made to lease 200 acres for two or three years and the council hopes that in the meantime the legislature will appropriate $15,000 to buy the land, Commissioner Lawrence Wooddell said today.

The swamp comprises 100 acres but Wooddell said the council believed that 100 acres additional should be purchased to preserve the swamp properly.

Wooddell said the swamp was the outstanding place of its kind in the state.

The swamp is believed to have been brought to Ohio from Wisconsin during the ice age. Underlying it is an underground lake. There are thousands of cedar trees although each year many of them are cut for Christmas decorations. Visitors in the area are destroying the beauty of the place, Wooddell said.

"There also has been some talk of draining the area and there are several excellent reasons why this should not be done," Wooddell said.

"The water table would be lowered causing depletion of land values in the area. The swamp is one of the lowest places in the area and draining it would naturally result in drawing water from higher levels. Naturally, too, draining the swamp would destroy its primitive beauty."

Wooddell said the swamp had no value as farm land.

The hound was put on the trail of a fugitive but ran so fast he outdistanced the posse. The pursuers, bewildered, followed the yelping of another hound and found a treed raccoon.

Next morning, they found the warden's bloodhound. He was tied to a fence with the convict's suspenders.

Project Launched To Solve Mystery Shrouding Matter

Atom smasher — Dr. W. H. Eells

By MAURICE MERRYFIELD
International Illustrated News Writer.

PITTSBURGH—One of the most intriguing dramas ever presented by science is being staged in the laboratories of Westinghouse Electric in East Pittsburgh where equipment is being set up designed to smash the atom and solve its mysteries.

Long one of the major challenges in the field of chemistry and physics, the composition and concentrated energy of the atom has defied all efforts to disintegrate it and determine the component elements which constitute this formation which comprises 99 per cent of the mass of the universe.

It now appears, though, that there is an excellent chance of solving this great unknown in view of the systematic and determined effort which is being sponsored jointly by science and industry.

Huge Device Constructed

Principal unit in the apparatus by which it is hoped to smash the atom is a giant generator capable of producing 5,000,000 volts of controlled current. This will be installed in a huge pear-shaped shell about 25 feet in diameter and 50 feet high, located at the East Pittsburgh laboratories of Westinghouse.

The stream of electric current generated will be directed from the top of the shell down through a vacuum tube running through the center of the housing onto a piece of metal of some sort from which it is hoped to release the atoms. Compressed air of 350 pounds to the square inch will further insulate the vacuum tube during the passage of the current down through the center.

Numerous problems must be solved before the equipment will be ready to function. As yet but little is known regarding direct current voltages as high as 5,000,000 volts. Most of the experimentation performed has been in the field of alternating current and considerable research is involved before it can be determined just what will be necessary in the way of air pressure insulation and the vacuum tube through which the current will be transmitted before the actual experiment on atom-smashing can proceed.

Much has been written, of course, about the atom and its potentialities, but any surmise thus far has necessarily been one of conjecture. It has been said that there is enough energy contained in an atom, if it were released, to operate a railroad train across the continent or perform equally herculean tasks.

Before such questions can be answered it will be necessary to break down the atom and determine its component materials. This is the hope of Westinghouse engineers, headed by Dr. W. H. Eells, formerly of University of Minnesota.

RITES PLANNED FOR 4 KILLED BY TRAIN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 20—Funeral plans were made today for four victims of a Pennsylvania freight train that crashed into an automobile at Plain City, 22 miles northwest of here yesterday. They were: Mrs. Ralph Hubbard, 19, the driver; her nine-months-old daughter, Janice Lee Hubbard, and Phyllis Collins, 12, all of Plain City, and Miss Sylvia Kuhn, 19, of Kilesville. The four stopped at the crossing to wait for a west-bound freight to pass, then drove across the double tracks into the path of the east-bound train.

About 3,000 patents relating to electricity are issued each year.

SANTANDER'S FALL EXPECTED SHORTLY

Franco's Forces Smash Virtually All Defenses of Northern City.

By The Associated Press

HENDAYE, Franco Spanish Frontier, Aug. 20—Gen. Francisco Franco's conquering legions slogged through the mud of the Biscayan hill country today toward an apparently doomed Santander.

The insurgent chieftain visited his relentlessly advancing front, pleased by the now almost unopposed push toward the Spanish government's last city stronghold on the northern coast.

In less than a week of the insurgent offensive, Franco's commanders reported, Santander's outlying defenses in the tumbling terrain to the city's southwest had been virtually smashed.

The drive yesterday was confined to infantry attacks against the last strands of the government defensive.

The insurgent operations were centered on two vital highways, the Burgos and Palencia roads running north toward Santander, but the advance guard deployed on either side of the highways to dipe out Santander's dwindling forces.

Meanwhile, normal business activity within Santander had come to a tense halt. Shops and factories were closed and workers were rushed to the fringes of the city to build last line fortifications against the advancing insurgents.

Santander authorities clung to the hope that fortifications about Torrelavega, an important industrial, mining and water power center, 11 miles to the southwest, might serve to check the offensive.

The Italian "black arrow" brigade, a powerful unit of Franco's army, was reported within a few miles of Torrelavega and of all his forces the nearest to Santander.

The United States destroyer Kane steamed to Santander to evacuate Americans. The French trawler Louisette arrived yesterday at Bayonne, France, with refugees from the beleaguered seaport who said the capitulation of Santander was considered inevitable.

CONGRESS UNABLE TO RECESS TONIGHT

which the senate took up today. Its appropriations committee approved the inclusion of $20,000,000 to start the farm tenancy program, funds which the house already had voted.

Ditched in the rush to adjourn also were a crop insurance measure and a host of less important bills.

House leaders believed they might salvage from the wreckage a bill already passed by the senate for an unemployment census, and some senators were seeking a vote on a natural gas regulation measure which the house has approved.

Farm Bill to Come First

Before quitting, house leaders also planned to approve a senate resolution making farm legislation the first order of business at the next session.

Because so many of the President's measures have been postponed, this year's accomplishments added up to little of significance aside from the routine appropriation bills and extensions of old laws.

Chief exceptions to the routine measures were farm tenancy, housing, neutrality, and the Guffey coal laws.

The major controversy of the session—over judicial legislation—wound up with two bills that might have been passed with little dispute at any time, a voluntary retirement law for supreme court justices and a lower court procedure measure.

U. S. SAILOR KILLED AS SHELL HITS SHIP

Another fell less than 100 yards astern shortly after.

The sailor casualty was the fourth American to be killed in the eight days of war in Shanghai. Three United States citizens died last Saturday when misplaced Chinese air bombs wrecked buildings in the international area and killed more than a thousand persons.

It was the first time shells from Japanese naval guns had touched this part of Shanghai. Casualties were not known immediately.

The projectiles whizzed close to the Associated Press office. Lives of Americans and other foreigners were endangered by the bombardment.

Wharves Bombarded

Three Chinese planes roared over Pootung, across the Whangpoo from the French concession, and dropped eight bombs on Japanese-owned wharves, warehouses and cotton mills, which burst into flames.

Japanese pursuit ships raced toward the lumbering bombers. One of the Chinese planes caught fire from machine-gun bullets and crashed to the ground.

Fires raged in parts of Pootung and the Japanese area of Hongkew.

In the midst of the air bombardment Chinese shells from a concealed rooftop position in the Chinese city, adjoining the French concession, crashed into Japanese-held sectors of the Whangpoo river shores.

The detonations shook the entire city. Americans and other foreigners raced indoors. Sailors on the U. S. S. Augusta and other ships of the international fleet took cover.

Japs on River Bank

Chinese forces, attempting to drive the Japanese into the Whangpoo river, apparently held the Japanese along the river's banks in northeastern Shanghai. Chinese artillery repulsed a Japanese effort to land a flanking detachment at Liuho, 12 miles northwest of Shanghai.

Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, told Japanese that American refugees would evacuate when and how they pleased. It was his answer to a request that United States naval officials give advance notice when they wished to navigate the Whangpoo after dark.

While a curtain of flying shrapnel blanketed the Whangpoo river United States warships were pressed into service to help evacuate 1,000 American refugees.

Flames roared through most of the Hongkew section of the Japanese area, menacing the Soviet and Japanese consulates and the famous Astor house hotel.

Japanese naval sources declared the Chinese fired the houses to cover a retreat, but other sources said Japanese had fired many Hongkew buildings to smoke out the Chinese.

Claim Jap Lines Split

Independent reports from the battle area said Chinese had not yielded their gains, and that the Chinese attack had split the Japanese lines.

Far to the north of Shanghai Chinese armies, at least 100,000 strong, were reported to have launched a general offensive to wrest from Japanese invaders conquered areas of north China.

The northern assault was designed to force Japanese armies out of Tientsin and Peiping.

A Japanese announcement from Peiping said octogenarian Gen. Chian Chao-tsung, formerly chairman of the Japanese created peace preservation committee, had assumed mayorality of the city.

Eleven full divisions of the Chinese regular army were reported engaged in the sweeping attack against the Japanese. While two parallel columns struck northward against Peiping and Tientsin a third army was holding the Japanese at bay in the Great Wall pass just north of Nankow.

Seek to Cut Off Rear

Behind this northern army at Nankow, another was sweeping to the east to cut off the Japanese rear and isolate them in the northeast section of Hopeh province where they have consolidated their control.

Two Chinese divisions were said to be advancing against Tientsin

GUARD CONVOYS GET RIGHT-OF-WAY HERE

Chief Marks Explains Method as Truck Train Goes Through Today.

National Guard convoy trucks constitute a procession in the eyes of the Marion police department and as a result this city has no difficulty with guard drivers ignoring red traffic lights such as was experienced at Upper Sandusky recently, Chief of Police Marks said today.

As a procession the guard convoys are handled in the same manner as a line of funeral cars, the chief said. They are permitted to pass through the red lights while an officer is stationed at the intersection to stop traffic from the opposite directions.

Recently a police officer in Upper Sandusky arrested three drivers there for ignoring a traffic signal. They were held until guard officers agreed to observe the lights in the future.

Marion's method of handling the convoys was brought to public attention this morning when a group of trucks passed through south on route 23 from Camp Perry on Lake Erie. Officers were stationed at the lights on the chief intersections to permit the trucks to pass through without interruption. Chief Marks said that the department is advised in advance of the time convoys will reach here.

In discussing the method of handling the convoys Chief Marks this morning cited a city ordinance which permits processions of cars to pass through red lights under escort. He also said he believes it is the best way to handle the situation as it permits clearing of the intersections more quickly and also enables the drivers to maintain the convoys grouping under which they are instructed travel.

In Columbus today Adj. Gen. Emil Marks said the Upper Sandusky incident had not previously come to his attention and that he knew nothing of it. He added however, that guardsmen were instructed from time to time to observe traffic lights in municipalities.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

TORONTO—The spheroidal state, a liquid, the thing you see when water touches a very hot stove, is beginning to give trouble to industry.

When water is poured upon a red hot stove, it ought to flash up into steam instantly. It ought, that is, under the physical laws of boiling.

But it doesn't. Little drops of water dance across the hot iron without even wetting it.

The reason—the drops are surrounded by steam. This is the spheroidal state. It will happen any time water is heated too fast.

It happens, too, to the liquids chemists boil in stills, evaporators and fractionating devices. Thomas B. Drew and Alfred O. Mueller of the du Pont company, have informed chemical engineers that the spherical state troubles can be met by proper design of boilers.

APTER FIVE

ell came to, he found ...lying fully dressed on ...he Hotel Stafford. For ...his mind was a blank, ...aware that he felt ter...rible. The sun was streaming in and he glanced at his watch. Nearly 12 o'clock. He sat up pressing his head between his hands, then staggered into the bath for water.

Suddenly recollection returned—Janet, the Lord Baltimore hotel, Prescott Fanning, the taxicab. Good God! Fanning doped me! he thought. But how? I was watching him. The dope must have been in the wet glass when he brought it from the bathroom. Oh, God! What a fool I was!

Neill went through his pockets. His money had not been touched, but a glance in the other side of his wallet told him his papers had been ransacked. So Fanning knew now that he was a treasury department agent. Only one thing had been taken, a photograph of Janet.

When he thought of Janet he turned sick with anxiety. What had happened to her? He ran to the phone and called up the smart dress shop on Charles street where she worked. A woman's voice refined and acidulous, said:

"No, Miss Emory isn't here."

"When will she be in?"

"I don't expect to see her again. She sent me a telegram this morning resigning her position. She has left me flat. It is the most inconsiderate . . ."

Neill was not interested in Madame Annette's feelings. He hung up. Janet gone. He could not take it in fully. Gone?

He took down the receiver again and called up the flat that she shared with a girl pal. A sickening wait while he listened to the double buzz of the bell ringing at the other end. No answer. Remembering what Eyster had told him, he called up the City pier to ask about the yacht Nadji. She had pulled out at 7:30 the previous evening, he was told. A 7:30 Fanning had been with Neill. But of course they could have joined the yacht at some other point later. Where was the yacht bound? Through the Chesapeake and Delaware canal, he was told, and out to sea.

He rose and paced the room in an agony of distress, not knowing what to do. Janet's friend was a student at the Maryland Institute and he didn't know how to reach her by phone.

A Cab Driver Reports

In a moment or two his telephone rang and he ran to the instrument with a wild hope of hearing Janet's voice. No such luck. It was the clerk downstairs saying:

"There's a young man here wants to see you. He says you don't know his name. I think he's a taxi-driver."

"Send him up," said Neill.

It was a wizened little fellow in nondescript clothes with an engaging grin. So far as Neill could remember, he had never seen him before. He said, grinning:

"My name's Johnny Tingstrom. I'm the guy that picked up you and the other guy at the Lord Baltimore at 7:30 last night."

Neill seized his arm and jerked him through the door. "For God's sake what happened?"

"Wait a minute!" Tingstrom laughed. "The other guy, he tells me to drive to the Belvedere . . . I remember that.'

"When we are coming up the hill beside the Peabody he rape on the glass and says: 'My friend has passed out cold.' So I pulls into the curb and gets out and we looks at you and shakes you. You was in the gauze all right. Paralyzed. So the guy says: 'He lives at the Stafford. We better take him home and put him to bed.' And I says 'Okay, boss.'

"So I drives to the Stafford and we take you in, one on each side. The clerks and the bellhops and the other guys in the lobby, they get a big laugh seeing you brought in cold so early in the evening. So me and the other guy we lays you on your bed and beats it. I drives him to the Belvedere.

"Now I thinks there's something funny about this business. You was perfectly steady when you got in my car. You passed out too quick. So I made up my mind to take a little time out to investigate. So after I dropped him I turns at the next corner and drives back, and I sees the guy coming out of the Belvedere and getting into a private car."

"Did you get his license number?" asked Neill.

"Sure, but that won't do you no good because I looked it up myself later, and it was only a drive-yourself car, hired for the evening. It was brought back to the garage at 5:30 by the guy who was driving it. They thought it was funny because he hadn't had it out but little over an hour."

A Wonderful Looking Girl

"What did the driver look like?"

"A hell of a big guy with heavy shoulders."

"I've seen the man. Go on."

"From the Belvedere they drives to a house on Calvert street and picks up a young lady. Gee! a wonderful looking girl, boss! She was wearing a pink dress and a black velvet wrap, light brown hair and blue eyes that looks almost black at night. There was something about her you know, something that strikes a man down. I mean any man, even a poor hackie like me."

"You was in the gauze all right. Paralyzed."

"Get on! Get on!" said Neill irritably. "I know what she looks like."

"Pardon me, boss. From Calvert street they drives to the Hotel Milner on Cathedral with me following. At the Milner they picks up a couple."

"Describe them."

"Well, I don't get a very good look because I don't dast go close. A youngish couple; the doll was all fixed up swell, but not like the young lady. Too much paint. And the guy, he is just one of these ornery guys who dresses up like a sore finger and goes out at night when some other guy is paying."

"Go on."

"They starts downtown with me following, but at this hour the streets is almost empty and the big guy, I reckon he gets on to the fact that he's being trailed and passes the word to his driver. They begin to speed up and to turn one corner after another to try to shake me off."

"And you lost them?"

"It was no fault of mine, boss. I was stopped by a cop at corner of Madison and Eutaw. It is always the way in this world, the crook gets away and the honest guy gets a ticket."

Neill gets a call for help from Janet tomorrow.

—The— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

WHY MEN MARRY

"Why Not Get Married?" is the intriguing title of a little book which has run into several printings since April. And no wonder! For, from April Fool's day to the Fourth of July every unattached person is asking himself or herself that question.

You just can't junk marriage. You can do away with all the old conventions and customs, you can abolish Victorianism and cast off all the old restraints; but you simply can't junk anything so humanly instinctive as marriage.

"For the great majority of women," declares the author of this book, Harvey A. Kalish, "marriage is a vital necessity—and for a number of important reasons."

Absolutely! A woman always has a vital reason for marrying, even if it's only because she is tired of living alone and can't learn to "like it." But the modern man, who has found that bachelor apartments are perfectly comfortable, that most girls can be kissed, and that romance dies sooner or later, still goes right on marrying—for the same old "reasons!"

Strange as it may sound, the world is still full of men who marry for the quaint reason that they are in love, and feel that they cannot live without the exclusive rights to some particular woman.

And other men marry as a "rest cure" from bachelorhood, just in order to escape from the monotony of variety, by tying themselves to one woman who will protect them from all the others and keep them out of foolish entanglements. While still others marry because they have been brought up to look forward to marriage as an old family custom, just as they have been brought up to look froward to going to college and shaving their chins.

Lots of men are attracted to marriage, these days, by the modern "fifty-fifty" arrangement which promises all the joys and delights of matrimony, with none of its responsibilities and restrictions. It all looks so simple and easy—and such a swell idea!

Many men marry in a spirit of bravado, as they go in for making flying records, just to prove that they are conquerors and can "beat the other fellow to it" and cop the most popular girl. And more than one man has waked up on the morning after a big night of whoopee, to find himself legally tied to a permanent headache, whose first name escapes him and whose last name he has never heard.

In short most men just stumble, trip or skid into marriage, when the brakes on their imaginations are not working. They start dreaming under a summer moon, and when they wake up—there they are at the altar, signing on the dotted line.

Men may change, women may change, and even the marriage laws and customs may change; but the mating instinct will never die!

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Neil Tells How She Outwitted Two Canadian Boys.

NELL GIBBS laughed heartily as Lillian concluded the account of the manner in which Marion and Carolyn had bamboozled their elders in the matter of pretending not to know that the Canadians had followed them to the New Hampshire camp from the resort where the Underwoods had stayed for a few days' outing.

"The little devils!" she said, but there was admiration in the epithet. "And I wasted a lot of perfectly good time and breath in seeing that nobody around here tipped the lads off as to where the girls were. I sure made a ring of silence around that camp. The Canadian lads came to our house—good-looking, upstanding lads they were, too—but we had never heard of the Underwoods or their proteges. And they met with similar ignorance at every place up and down the road that could possibly have any knowledge of you people."

Effort Not Wasted

"Not a bit of your effort was wasted," Lillian assured her warmly. "It was one thing for the girls to keep silence when they recognized a car license. It would have been something else again if the boys had met them face to face. They simply couldn't have been rude to such personable young men, and we would have had the complication we feared. No, my dear, you may consider yourself a public benefactor."

"I'll tie the title round my neck," Nell Gibbs laughed, and then we talked of everything and nothing, in the way women do, until we reached Laconia and deposited Mrs. Gibbs at the door of one of the shops. She again gave me minute directions as to how we could find the home of her friend where she was to wait for us, and Lillian and I drove away, without even the semblance of a curious glance from her.

"What a brick she is!" Lillian commented. "She must sense, of course, that ours is a mysterious and secret errand, but not even the twitch of a facial muscle betrayed her recognition of our purpose."

"I wish it weren't quite so mysterious," I said pettishly. "I don't like this business of dodging into a hotel like conspirators, avoiding the desk and going directly to the Veritzen suite—"

"Snap out of it!" Lillian advised easily. "You know that both of us are really getting a kick out of doing that very thing, and conjecturing wildly why in the hinges of the hot place Mary has seen fit to summon us so secretaly and theatrically."

"Have you any guess as to why she's sent for us?" I asked.

Lillian hesitated only for the infinitesimal fraction of a second.

"Not any worth voicing," she said with a finality that told me it would be useless to question her further. "Have you?"

"No, not a soul, I returned truthfully, and we spoke little more until we turned into the driveway of the big and ornate hotel where Philip Veritzen had established a temporary home while waiting for the recovery of his royal protege, the distressed Queen Olga of Transvania.

Before we alighted from the car I cast a keen glance around the lawn and verandas to see if Philip Veritzen, or any member of his party was anywhere in evidence, but there was no one we knew within range of our vision.

Lillian put her hand on my arm as we descended. "Steady!" she said. "Remember, we're walking in as if we lived here, and we'll make straight for the rear. We'll spot the elevator as we go, and push the button as though we were in the habit of doing it every hour. Mary said she'd be looking out for you. Didn't she?"

"Yes, on the main floor, she

In The Middle.

The government promises to keep the United States in the middle, as far as the Shanghai crisis is concerned

This is mildly funny. What the government really means is that it will stay in the middle until it can think up some way to get out of the middle. Its position isn't voluntary.

War between China and Japan has caught the government with a half baked neutrality policy which hasn't even been finished on paper yet, not to mention its shortcomings as a proved method of preventing entanglements in foreign wars.

Application of the policy is made to hinge on the fact of war. Since wars no longer are declared anyway, that is a fact which cannot be determined, except in hospitals where death is as undeclared war is just as final as death in a declared one.

Application of the neutrality law would hurt the war boom. It would handicap China, the underdog, more heavily than it would handicap Japan. It would put into practice the theory of splendid isolation which most statesmen are inclined to think is poppycock.

The upshot is that the government, the lawmakers and the people are just as confused about neutrality as they were in 1914. Then, too, they hoped they could steer down the middle to escape from the middle. This time, fortunately, the prospect of acute danger isn't quite so real, but the dilemma of how to be neutral without being neutral is no less perplexing than it was a quarter of a century ago.

Rushing For A Train.

There's no longer any question about it—congress is rushing to make a train leaving Washington not later than early next Sunday morning.

This is something congress has been doing once a year for a long time, but it doesn't do it any better now than it used to when some congressmen still were catching wagons, instead of trains.

The performance has come to have certain characteristics, such as a Congressional Record filled to bursting with a lot of tripe that nobody will read and an overworked pigeonhole department for proposals that were made too soon or shouldn't have been made at all.

A good many things are forgotten which should have been remembered, and some stuff is remembered which might as well have been forgotten. There's much senseless running about in short circles and when it's all over everybody is exhausted.

In short, it's no different from rushing to catch a train anywhere else, except that when congress does it the confusion is public, instead of private.

Jobs For Men.

The picture is of a short, chunky man sitting on the running board of a fire truck staring up at a rooming house in which two men have been burned to death and 10 others injured. This is a man of importance, the mayor of New York City, Fiorello LaGuardia. He's on hand to see what needs to be done to help the victims of the fire.

He's an interesting character, this LaGuardia. As head of the nation's greatest city, he has performed ably. If it were possible to shuck him out of the political complications which surround him, he would be found to be one of the ablest administrators of his generation. Even with the complications, he's still way above average.

Yet, for some reason or other, a man able to run a city, smart enough to keep ahead of the grafters, a man who has ideas and energy, must be a politician as well as an administrator. He must make enemies. He must grind axes. In the case of LaGuardia, he must spend a lot of time running to Washington to consult with politicians there on the progress of The Movement.

The United States is up to its neck in politicians and theorists. There's one for every 10 taxpayers, maybe more than one. But if a good administrator shows up for every 10 million, it's news—and then as likely as not he's so busy with the ideology of some cause or other that such matters as clean streets, garbage disposal and fire traps, must be crowded in between speeches.

Maybe Mayor LaGuardia never thought of it, but he's a lot more important to the United States sitting on a fire truck than carrying the banner for The New Thought.

Nothing Has Been Done

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 — President Roosevelt's "smoke-screen" speech in North Carolina an attempt to divert attention from the national job march—will not blot out the fact that the session of congress about to adjourn this week constitutes the most tragic failure in 50 years.

At a time when the Democratic party possessed an overwhelming majority of both houses, having won an election by carrying 46 out of 48 states, with full responsibility to improve the lot of the unemployed and the fortunes of the employed, the Roosevelt administration and the congress cannot justly claim a single major achievement in the whole seven months which could remotely be construed as assisting economic recovery.

In fact, the congress has wasted valuable time which should have been used to make a real start on the problems of recovery as well as on the prevention of a worse panic than 1929 due to excessive government borrowing. Here are the sins of omission of the present congress:

1. Nothing has been done to get jobs—permanent jobs—for the poor people now on WPA rolls. Their march on Washington is justified to the extent that it proves the administration wants to cut the WPA workers loose without providing conditions that will permit private business to employ them.

2. Nothing has been done to cut down the public debt. It is close to $37,000,000,000—a record high of all times.

3. Nothing has been done to cut down expenses. Though this is supposed to be a "recovery" year, the government already, in the first six weeks of the new fiscal year which began on July 1 last, has spent more than $1,000,000,000, which compares with $770,000,000 for the same six weeks last year.

4. Nothing has been done to overhaul the tax structure and make the tax rates more productive and equitable.

5. Nothing has been done to make the securities and exchange act workable so that capital markets can really be operated to stimulate production.

6. Nothing has been done to count the unemployed or to classify them properly so a real start could be made on job placement.

7. Nothing has been done to set up an efficient, incorruptible, honest and non-political system of distributing relief payments.

8. Nothing has been done to regain for the cotton farmer of the south the world markets lost through new deal shortsightedness.

9. Nothing has been done to amend the one-sided Wagner act so freedom to work might again be protected by the arm of government against the lawlessness of irresponsible groups and the arbitrariness of government tribunals.

10. Nothing has been done to keep down the cost of articles which the farmer buys.

11. Nothing has been done to bring down the cost of living for the city family.

12. Nothing has been done to relieve small businesses of the straitjacket imposed on them by the so-called undistributed surplus tax, which has proved a "dud" so far as producing revenue is concerned and has only produced headaches and near-bankruptcies for debt-ridden companies struggling to emerge from the depression.

13. Nothing has been done to help the cause of the Negro, whose votes were so blatantly gathered in by the Democrats last fall, and while congress could at least have adopted a resolution condemnatory of lynching and could have strengthened the statutes calling for federal intervention when local processes of law and order break down, as they did in Michigan in the sit-down strikes, the congress chose instead to ignore the fact that the federal Constitution guarantees the citizen the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

14. Nothing has been done to bring about the much needed coordination of federal, state and local tax collecting agencies so as to eliminate duplication, waste and overlapping.

15. Nothing has been done to use the vast hoard of gold buried in Kentucky as a basis for a revived world system of credits so as to start the flow of international trade in earnest and break down the main prop of dictatorship at home and abroad—economic nationalism.

16. Nothing has been done to get the legislative powers of appropriation out of the hands of the executive and back into the hands of the congress, where they belong.

17. Nothing has been done to render unnecessary the artificial "pump priming" use of public funds so that economic recovery could be put on a sound and permanent basis.

18. Nothing, indeed, has been done to improve the condition of the one-third of our population who, the President keeps saying are, "ill-clad, ill-nourished and ill-housed," that is, nothing has been done except to talk about it.

This is the record. What did congress do? It passed a few minor bills, providing for some new experiments in money-spending, and the rest of the time the whole session was monopolized by Mr. Roosevelt's ill-timed, ill-conceived, and ill-considered proposals to do away with the process of amending the Constitution in the regular way and to change the American system by packing the supreme court with political puppets who would take orders from the White House on how the Constitution should be interpreted.

Again and again, the President was warned that the plan would be defeated, but he tied up the whole legislative machinery by insisting on a prolonged fight to the finish to demonstrate the truth of a fact which was conveyed to him months before by his intimate friends among the leaders of both houses.

Congress had a chance to improve on social security legislation and to iron out the unworkable features of other hastily passed measures of previous sessions. Congress had a chance to encourage the American economic system. But the President did not will it so. And now the President assumes the level of intelligence of the American electorate is such that the mistakes of the last few months and the unhappy corroboration now of the mistakes of the last four years will be overlooked and forgotten simply by making a series of speeches denouncing the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers, from whose individual members the President's henchmen on the Democratic national committee do not hesitate to extort money for campaign contributions in violation of the laws of the United States.

As long as there is a free press, these facts will be exposed to the view of the citizens, and it remains to be seen how long "smoke-screen" speeches and shifting of blame can fool the independent voters who hold the balance of power in the American electorate.

3 Shots Dangerous

DR. S. R. GERBER, coroner of Cuyahoga county, and his associates during the last year or two have studied the blood, spinal fluid and urine in about 300 bodies brought to the county morgue as victims of traffic accidents.

They studied to learn the amount of alcohol required to make drivers and pedestrians drunk or to place them "under the influence" of liquor to a degree that produces a measurable difference in behavior and mental and physical stability.

They produced: Support of previous research which concluded that individuals with blood alcohol concentrations of less than .08 per cent showed no demonstrable evidence of alcoholic intoxication. Of those with blood alcohol concentrations between .08 per cent and .10 per cent, about 30 per cent showed evidence of intoxication (.08 per cent alcohol concentration in body fluids, in an average person, is produced by about three "shots" or 3 ounces of average strength whisky.)

Study in Effects.

Says the report: "It has been shown that if a person of average size (about 113 pounds) takes on an empty stomach 180 cc. of whisky or gin (50 per cent alcohol by weight) he will get blood alcohol concentration of .10 per cent that will place him in the sub-clinical stage characterized by a feeling of good fellowship, well being and increased self-confidence.

This amount of alcohol is equivalent, roughly, to about 2½ large whiskys or a little more than 4 ounces. If he drinks five large whiskys (8 ounces), his blood alcohol concentration would rise to about .20 per cent, which is the second stage of intoxication. The stage of stupor is produced by a blood concentration of .30 to .40 per cent—stage of coma at .40 to .50 per cent.

Dr. Gerber's report adds: "Alcohol is popularly, but erroneously, accepted as a stimulant by most people. It must be stressed emphatically that it is from first to last a narcotic drug on the central nervous system."

Dr. Gerber and associates reported: During 1936 and early 1937 (first three months) in Cuyahoga county alcoholism was found in 56 per cent of 110 victims of fatal accidents who were tested. (Of 480 traffic deaths during the 15-month period, 110 bodies were tested and none of these was of a person 15 years of age or less.) Body fluids, blood and urine were tested. Of the 110 cases, 45 per cent showed alcoholism in concentrations of 0.10 per cent or more.

What Evidence Shows.

Conclusion: "With all this data before us the most imposing conclusion that must be drawn is that alcohol, having an average incidence of 56 per cent (in fatal accidents) plays a more important role in the cause of traffic fatalities than ever before realized."

More findings: Males, by far, make the majority of the victims in fatal traffic accidents, and also present a far higher percentage of alcoholism. Pedestrians are, by far, the greatest number of fatal traffic victims (in Cuyahoga county) and due to the high incidents of alcoholism among them, may be the ones wholly or partly responsible for a large percentage of traffic accidents.

It was "surprising" to Dr. Gerber and associates that (in Cuyahoga county) incidence of alcoholism is highest in the age group of 45 to 50 years (among traffic fatalities).

A Book A Day

By JOHN SELBY

THE year and a half since the death of King George V have been parlous for England, and nobody knows this better than Sir Philip Gibbs. He not only knows the condition; he saw in it the opportunity for another book.

This book is being published today in America under the title "Ordeal in England." It is neither the best nor the worst book Sir Philip has written, but it has a good deal of value for America because it is both honest and tempered.

Gibbs' best pages have to do with "Taffaire Simpson." He has nothing very new to offer, in the way of historical data, that is. Indeed, other writers have told much more, whether or not it has been the truth. What Gibbs has that these have not had is a genuine and truthful sympathy for Edward, and an unclerical, unPuritan attitude toward the entire matter.

Sir Philip rather inclined toward the possibility of a marriage which would not place Mrs. Simpson on the throne—such marriages had occurred in the past. He resented, and did not believe in the idea of the bishops that Mrs. Simpson's divorces were shocking England to the core, even though he admits there are many Puritans left in the land. He hoped to the last that some means could be devised which would permit a king obviously popular with the classes which needed him most to continue a service potentially valuable. He does not do the about-face of Hector Bolitho; one day an Edwardian, the next the henchman of the bishop of Bradford.

Nor, oddly, does he seem too cordial toward the idea which he says is prevalent in England—that Edward "let down" his subjects. Yet he acknowledges (temperately) the virtues of the present occupants of the throne, describing pleasantly a day he once spent with the sixth George. Now it is time to make peace, we are told.

We are told other things—about the League, armaments, other royalty, the bumptiousness of Baldwin, and so on. The book will be read seriously.

Today in Ohio History

Although many historians list Benjamin Harrison as a native of Indiana, because of his long residence there, he was born at North Bend, O., Aug. 20, 1833. He received his early education in Ohio and was graduated from Miami university.

The grandson of William Henry Harrison, he became a general in the Civil war and later a successful lawyer at Indianapolis. He was a Republican and held many important offices during the postwar period. As U. S. senator and cabinet officer he demonstrated his ability and won the nomination and election to the presidency of the United States.

The U. S. Neutrality Act

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Those who have believed that the neutrality act passed by the last congress would furnished us with a foolproof formula for meeting every eventuality which might involve us abroad, have, patently, not been thinking of the far east. Now that the most dangerous situation has arisen, short of a war in Europe between two or more great powers, the neutrality act is not being invoked. Secretary Hull's statement on the American attitude toward the Sino-Japanese conflict really establishes no policy at all. Our nationals are advised to leave China—and we send 1,200 additional marines to protect them, until they can be evacuated. We shall not, he says, maintain troops "indefinitely" in China—but indefinitely is a highly indefinite word. Although we had no difficulty in making up our minds that a state of war existed in Ethiopia and in Spain, we do not officially recognize that a state of war exists in China. Yet, this is undoubtedly a war to the average American in the street and to the invaded Chinese and actually three Americans have already been killed in it.

Those who are aware of the complexities in the Sino-Japanese situation—the complexities and the dangers—are inclined to sympathize with, rather than criticize the administration, which has only added one confounding factor: the neutrality act itself. The other complicated factors in the Pacific it inherited from previous administrations. These, taken together, neither harmonize nor make sense.

No Pacific Policy

Although we—or, let us say, rather, the United States navy—consider ourselves a Pacific power, we have no policy in the Pacific. If our policy consists in the protection and extension of our far eastern trade, then our interests lie with Japan and not with China. In the past two years, for instance, we have sold China about about $52,000,000 worth of goods and bought from her twice as much, and even those sales are smaller in reality because many of them were made to Japanese interests operating in China.

On the other hand, the United States is Japan's principal source of raw materials, and her principal market. Between 1932 and 1935 we sold her goods valued at $668,000,000, and bought from her goods to the value of $131,000,000.

The Chinese market, so far as the United States is concerned, is largely a myth. What it might be in the future is a speculation. Our total investment in China is also negligible — around $100,000,000 — and we annually spend millions to protect this investment and our small trade. In the past we have insisted on the Open Door in China, upon the presumption that some day the China market would be of immense value to us. But it has never materialized. And today we could carry our insistence into effect only at the point of the sword.

The surrender of the Philippines marks another zigzag in our Pacific policy. These islands, which lie on the farther side of Japan from us, as any one can see if he looks at a globular map of the world, have been granted provisional independence—largely upon the insistence of sugar and vegetable oil interests in the United States. Nevertheless, General Douglas MacArthur, our former Chief of Staff, is

Prosperous Actors; Blue Collars

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—Thoughts while strolling: Teaching sex in schools somehow always amuses me. Most of the boys in our town could teach the professors. The actor with a seat on the Stock Exchange: Georgie Price. Save for Dick Maney, no spectacular press agents like Harry Reichenbach anymore.

Rhyme: Girls named Kay are usually gay. Confirmed blue collarists: John Golden, Arthur William Brown and Richard Watts, Jr. And then there's the pink-collared Ham Fisher. The late Jim Dooling was the most erudite of Tammany leaders yet looked like a broken down pug. Football smash-ups.

Whenever we try to tell a funny story to a crowd, everybody somehow begins to look like Ned Sparks and Stan Laurel. Wonder how many other grown-ups now and then get a sudden yen for jelly-beans. Gene, the bead man at the Colony, suggests J. P. Morgan in younger days.

If there is any one in any trade who has salvaged more fun out of life than James Montgomery Flagg, he's escaped our eye. Adela Rogers St. John sounds like falling down three steps. Beatrice Lillie could wear almost any ordinary-sized finger ring as a necklace.

Pontifical radio announcer: Bill Hay. Add efficient secretaries: Will Hays' Julia Kelly, Major Bowes' Bessie Mack and Roy Howard's Miss Lowensohn. A group of pretty girls sighing in front of a Fred Astaire poster near Music Hall. I'm as skinny and have more hair than he—but never a glance.

The love of his life was Lillian Leitzel, the aerialist, killed in a fall in Copenhagen. The tragedy of her passing had overwhelmed him when a torn tendon in his shoulder ended his career, notable as the only man to be caught by a fellow trapezist after a triple somersault. A gay dare-devil, the blows stunned him and he would sit for hours at the Coopers without speaking a word. Then he tried for happiness again with a marriage and the management of his old act. New York Back in Spotlight

Again Occupies Influential Position in Political Setup.

BY PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Many a new dealer has boasted that a major accomplishment of the Roosevelt regime has been removing "of the real capital of the United States" from New York back to Washington.

Roosevelt partisans have declared that before "the new deal returned the plain people to authority," New York's financial powers exercised a more or less invisible control of national governmental policies which they described as amounting to a dictatorship for a privileged few.

With the Roosevelt "revolution" the less opulent south and west were said to have leaped into the political saddle—riding a strange-hybrid Democratic donkey with unwonted disdain of the once proud and politically powerful financial East.

New York Eclipsed

In the 1936 race for the presidency, with its sharply divergent polls and prognostications of voter preference, the political sharps as usual — excepting Mr. Farley, of course — red-penciled New York state with its large electoral vote as a very possible determinant of who would be the winner.

But when the Roosevelt juggernaut rumbled to a new record of opposition - crushing, even the Empire State's prestige as a politic factor was eclipsed by a sweep that fastened the Democratic label on every state except Maine and Vermont.

But now New York has moved back into the very center of the political picture, with the prognosticators predicting that the future of the new deal may depend to a large measure upon the outcome of the mayoralty fight in New York City.

They figure that if anti-Roosevelt Alfred E. Smith and Tammany Leader Christopher Sullivan win the mayoralty nomination of Senator Royal Copeland over Justice Jeremiah Mahoney, backed by new deal Democrats, they might gain control of the entire party organization in New York City.

Even if Mayor LaGuardia, sympathetic to the new deal, defeats Copeland in the finals, Smith and Sullivan might be able to retain control of the party organization in the city and take an anti-Roosevelt delegation to the 1940 Democratic convention.

Combined with conservative Democrats from the south, the Tammany delegation might make the going tough for any new deal candidate for the presidential nomination.

Too Soon to Predict

Such appraisal of the possible power of anti-Roosevelt forces at the next convention is predicated upon a sizeable contingent from the south being hostile to Mr. Roosevelt or any candidate he favored for the nomination.

Veteran politicos, however, believe it is a bit premature to begin counting on formidable southern opposition to the President, particularly at a time when he may be preparing to give the go ahead signal on millions of dollars in loans to Dixie's cotton farmers.

Some old-line Democrats, who have no particular liking for the Copeland - Smith objectives, are fearful nevertheless that a second victory for Fiorello "Little Flower" LaGuardia might turn out to be a sprig of poison ivy for the Democratic party from a national standpoint.

The building up of a strong LaGuardia organization, combined with a continued split in the Democratic forces of New York City might deprive the Democratic party of a long-time bulwark of strength in presidential contests.

Between elections the tiger frequently has been looked upon as an unsuitable running mate for the donkey; but when that quadrennial crucial day in November rolls around, the tiger could almost invariably be counted upon for an effective vote-getting performance.

Glancing Backward

First steps were taken toward establishing a weekly "meatless day" throughout the country for duration of the war in the movement for food conservation. The tentative arrangement was to name Tuesday for this purpose.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge French of Fountain street and sons to Mr. and Mrs. Earne Eaches of Silver street and Mr. and Mrs. John Kreitzer of Campbell street.

The feature picture at the Marion theater was "The Flame of the Yukon," starring Dorothy Dalton and at the Grand Mary Miles Minter had the leading role in "Somewhere in America."

CCC ENROLLMENT IS SET FOR OCTOBER

W. S. Guthrie, Deputy Selecting Agent, Now Taking Applications in County.

Announcement was made here today that Marion city and county youths will be offered the opportunity to enroll in the civilian conservation corps in October. Applications are already being received and are being placed on file for the anticipated October quota, Walter S. Guthrie, deputy selecting agent for the county, said today.

Youths wishing to join the corps may make application at Mr. Guthrie's office in the relief headquarters building at 131 South Prospect street. From the state headquarters of CCC it has been reported that 3,261 boys' quotas were accepted in the July enrollment.

The July enrollment exceeded the state request of 3,239 being over the mark authorized by the department of labor by 22. The eligibility qualification of accepting "unemployed and those in need of employment," has made possible the selection of many young men who were previously excluded because they were not on relief, Guthrie said pointed out.

Mental and physical development in a wholesome outdoor atmosphere is being readily accepted by many young men whose parents do not have the funds to give them the advantages of further education and training, according to CCC officials. Regular classes they point out, are held in academic and handcraft work in most of the camps.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Silicosis.

Many of my readers will recall the recently in connection with the building of the Gauley bridge in West Virginia. I refer to the large number of cases of chronic illness among workers employed in that large project.

Ever since the publicity given the matter, I should say that I have constantly studying the industrial hazard. I am glad to say that a great deal of benefit has been derived from this investigation.

Silicosis is the name of the disease. It is regarded now as chief of the hazards of industry. It is caused by an accumulation of fine particles of silica within the lung tissue. Even particles of sandstone inhaled with the dust of the surrounding atmosphere.

Silicosis is not a modern disease. It has been known to afflict miners and fire excavators, but only within recent years has the ailment been thoroughly understood. It is hoped that as our knowledge of the disease increases it will eventually be controlled completely.

Silicosis used to be called "miner's consumption." This was because of the frequency of the appearance among miners. Today, we know that silicosis and tuberculosis are quite distinct and separate diseases.

Since the disease is most commonly encountered in miners, sand workers, quarry men, tunnel builders and others engaged in similar occupations, every precaution must be taken for the protection of these men. The health authorities now require that suitable masks be provided for such workers. Adequate ventilation must be provided at all times.

In addition, men engaged in this work must labor in short shifts. Neither are they permitted to engage in this tedious work for more than a few years. Prolonged exposure is dangerous.

Periodic health examinations are enforced. Men who are not physically perfect must not undertake to engage in this work. Any sign of lung weakness is a warning that exposure to the dust, even in minute amounts, may be dangerous.

When all of these measures are enforced, the danger of silicosis is minimized.

REPORTS PULLETS ARE EARLY LAYERS

White Rock pullets owned by Mrs. H. J. Hartsell of the Smeltzer road near Marion have joined the ranks of early layers.

Mrs. Hartsell reported her White Rocks began laying at the age of four and one-half months, an age considered early for the heavier breeds of chickens. No special effort was made to induce early laying, she said.

Peach Prices Steady

Peaches have not decreased in price as much as was expected some time ago. Crops in Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois all ripened at about the same time and produced a temporarily large supply. However, as these supplies dwindle the shipments from the great lakes region are not yet ready to take their place dealers said. Prices still are within reach of canners and the quality of the present supply is reported as quite good. The great lakes peaches including some from the Sandusky area are expected here in a week or 10 days.

WYANDOT CO. HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

Kitchen Gutted and Furniture Destroyed by Flames.

special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 20—The farm home of Carl Karg and his family was partly damaged at 7 a. m. Wednesday when fire broke out in the kitchen, gutting that section and spreading into two adjoining rooms. All of the kitchen furniture besides several pieces of furniture in the living room and a closed in porch was destroyed or damaged.

The fire started from a kerosene stove explosion in the kitchen while Karg and his wife were doing the morning milking. Karg fought the blaze with buckets of water while neighbors and the Crane township fire truck were summoned and brought the fire under control after more than $100 damage was done.

Karg also suffered burns about his face and hands and was treated at the office of a local physician. The burns were not deep.

In Ohio History

(From the J. H. Galbraith collection of Ohio histories written for The Associated Press.)

THE 17TH O. V. I.

The 17th Ohio Volunteer infantry was one of the hardest fighting of the Ohio regiments in the Civil war. The organization grew out of a nucleus consisting of 32 men who had been organized into a militia unit early in 1861. When news came that Fort Sumter had been fired upon, its captain, J. S. Stafford, recruited the company to 100 men.

With the president's call for troops a recruiting detachment was hurried to Lancaster, where three companies were raised, and there with companies from Hocking, Madison, Licking, Perry, Morgan, Mercer and Belmont counties made up a regiment. The regiment took part in 18 battles, including most of the great battles of the Civil war.
